MAY WAR ON KLAN BEFORE GOVERNORS

Parker Plans to Give Facts on Louisiana Situation to State Executives.

Gov. Parker of Louisiana is on his way home with the expressed determination of furnishing an investigation into activities of the Ku Klux Klan in his state. How far he would go or what would be his first point of attack in his campaign, the governor said, had not been decided, but he intended, he declared, to leave no stone unturned which would suppress "acts of the Klan."

Gov. Parker said he was not opposed to the Klan simply because it was the Klan, but that any other order, the B'nai B'rith, the Knights of Columbus or the Masonic fraternity, were they to resort to "lawlessness" would be dealt with accordingly.

To Address Governors.
The conference of governors at Hot Springs, Va., in December, at which Gov. Parker is to speak from the broad subject of "Citizenship," may give opportunity for presentation of the activities of the Klan in Louisiana, it was indicated.

Gov. Parker said he had not determined upon the material for his address, but that there was wide latitude allowed in the subject, and he might consider addressing the assembled chief executives of the states on the Klan, proposing a conference on the subject.

The Klan was the center of discussion Tuesday on the Senate floor by Senator Randell, Louisiana, who explored the nature of publicity from Louisiana given by the Washington Post, and by Senator Walsh, Massachusetts, who presented correspondence alleging atrocities had been committed by the Klan.

Veteran Cites Crime.

Senator Walsh read into the record letters from Joseph Morningstar, a veteran of the world war, and from Gov. Parker. The Morningstar letter to Senator Walsh referred to an alleged crime in Morehouse parish, La., against a friend and veteran, Fillmore Watt Daniel, and asked that justice be done. Senator Walsh declared, "It is evident from the letter of Gov. Parker, that he has sought the assistance of the Department of Justice to bring at least some murderers to the bar of justice."

Mr. Morningstar inclosed the letter received from Gov. Parker, in which the Louisiana executive said:

"It will be necessary to use all the influence at your command to get the United States government to take an interest in this matter, and for that reason I would appreciate your writing me at length your opinion of this matter as a soldier, and put it in such shape that I can send it to Washington with the certainty that it will bring results. If these results do not come quickly, could I impose upon you by asking you to get in touch with all your representatives and senators, requesting that they take the matter up with the Department of Justice to see that not only is this matter probed to the bottom, but that the murderers are brought before the bar of justice and that every possible effort at my command is and will be used to that end."
